RUSHING THE COERCION BILL THROUGH PARLIAMENT.

The House of Commons voted to pass the Bill next Friday—Gladstone and Parnell Protest in vain.

LONDON, June 11.—In the House of Commons last evening W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Treasury, moved for the consideration of the Coercion Bill at 10 o'clock p. m. Friday, June 11, as stated in the notice to the House given by him. In introducing the motion he said the Government had been forced to this step by the continued and unjustifiable obnoxious tactics of the opposition, and urged the importance of its adoption. It was the duty of the Government, he said, to call upon the House to take measures to prevent a minority from defying the controlling power of the majority, and it was impossible for the Government to proceed as it did, the majority being in a minority whose only policy was that of obstruction.

Mr. Gladstone, after replying to the strictures of Mr. Smith upon the course of the opposition, said the Government had been forced to this step by the continued and unjustifiable obnoxious tactics of the opposition, and urged the importance of its adoption. It was the duty of the Government, he said, to call upon the House to take measures to prevent a minority from defying the controlling power of the majority, and it was impossible for the Government to proceed as it did, the majority being in a minority whose only policy was that of obstruction.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Another Patriotic Meeting of the Committee of Arrangements.

The Prizes Offered for the Best Characters in the Mardi Gras Parade.

All the Arrangements Progressing Satisfactorily for a Little Time in the Fourth.

The committee of arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration held a meeting at the council chamber last evening. The attendance was quite large, a number of young men intending to take part in the grand parade were present.

Mr. Chairman W. F. Carlo presided, and City Treasurer Murphy was at the secretary's desk. The different committees reported satisfactory progress, and all predicted the largest and grandest celebration ever witnessed in Janesville.

After considerable discussion it was decided to increase the prizes offered at a former meeting for the best characters in the Mardi Gras parade, and on motion the following list was adopted:

—Prof. Koyse attended the Wisconsin Unitarian conference at Baraboo last week, and on Saturday read an essay. The Baraboo Republic speaks as follows: Prof. O. H. Koyse, of Janesville, then read an essay, which was full of forcible thoughts and practical ideas, that should be embodied in every day life.

He touched upon the subject of the importance to the individual of a proper physical education and urged that such education of our children be not neglected.

How to Get Rid of Side-ache? Who has not suffering from side-ache? We have it when we overwork ourselves at any age. It comes on, as everybody knows, suddenly. By using one of Allcock's Porous Plasters it goes away as quickly. F. R. Emerson, of No. 536 West 55th Street, New York, says: "It is with pleasure I write these lines in testimony to the powers of Allcock's Porous Plasters. I have been sometimes annoyed with serious pains in my side, brought on by a cold, and through the advice of a friend I tried two Allcock's Porous Plasters, and the relief they have given me is both satisfactory and astonishing. To any one annoyed with pains these plasters are a certain remedy."

THE WEATHER. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 61 degrees above zero. Clear with east wind. At one o'clock p. m., the register was 89 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with east wind. For corresponding hours one year ago the register was 60 and 72 degrees above zero.

The Prizes Offered for the Best Characters in the Mardi Gras Parade.

All the Arrangements Progressing Satisfactorily for a Little Time in the Fourth.

The committee of arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration held a meeting at the council chamber last evening. The attendance was quite large, a number of young men intending to take part in the grand parade were present.

Mr. Chairman W. F. Carlo presided, and City Treasurer Murphy was at the secretary's desk. The different committees reported satisfactory progress, and all predicted the largest and grandest celebration ever witnessed in Janesville.

After considerable discussion it was decided to increase the prizes offered at a former meeting for the best characters in the Mardi Gras parade, and on motion the following list was adopted:

—Prof. Koyse attended the Wisconsin Unitarian conference at Baraboo last week, and on Saturday read an essay. The Baraboo Republic speaks as follows: Prof. O. H. Koyse, of Janesville, then read an essay, which was full of forcible thoughts and practical ideas, that should be embodied in every day life.

He touched upon the subject of the importance to the individual of a proper physical education and urged that such education of our children be not neglected.
